Educate the Young Men.

One of the most painful results of our present poverty is the utter inability of parents, in thousands of instances, to give their sons a thorough academical and collegiate education. Many have abandoned the effort in utter despair and sent their boys to the counting-house, or to the fields to labor for their daily bread, while a great number of our youth, alas! less fortunate still, are consigned to idleness, there being nothing for them to do.

In such a condition of affairs it may seem to be unnecessary, almost cruel, to say "Educate the young men." The old adage "where there's a will there's a way," would by some be deemed wholly inapplicable and in bad taste. To tell fond fathers and mothers to do that which all their parental feelings desire, and all their circumstances declare to be impossible, is wantonly to trifle with their feelings and add to their grief.

Yet we are quite sure that the subject has not received in every case the attention, the strained effort, which its importance demands. It is probably a prevailing fault among us to yield too much to the force of adversity, and too readily to account a thing impracticable because we cannot do it in the way in which we were accustomed to carry it on when our pecuniary condition was better.

The first thing to be considered is the value of an education; and that youth is the season for obtaining it. The golden opportunity once lost never returns. Self-education in future years is a baseless hope, an unsubstantial refuge to which the thoughts will vainly retreat while contemplating the prospect of that adult ignorance to which a son is rapidly growing. It is a baseless hope, a vain refuge, because few, very few, who are not habituated to study while they are young ever become students at a later time of life. They may become smart men of business, shallow newspaper politicians, extensive novel readers, expert in very light literature, or stupid, useless drones in society—but that they will be thorough scholars, or ever occupy a commanding position by the side of educated men, need not be expected, unless they already exhibit the extraordinary genius and unquenchable thirst for knowledge which in one instance of ten thousand overcomes all obstacles. The alternative presented, the only one which ought to be for a moment considered by every judicious parent, is education with all its advantages by the use of the ordinary means, or ignorance for life. In such a case it is cruel to take a risk, to neglect the only certain method of securing the object in view, for an idle dream that some thing may, by and by, turn up, which will over-come the impediments thrown by early neglect in a young man's way, and make him a scholar in spite of them all.

In considering the question of pecuniary ability, the mind, in this matter, as in all our ecclesiastical concerns where money is required, naturally reverts to the inquiry how far the mode of living, style of dress, and other expenditures among us may be so modified as to become subservient to the end proposed. If fashion and luxury hold the place, and absorb the substance which are due to education, they are subjects for severe criticism. The vanity that prefers the tinsel of a mere outward appearance, to the solid advantages of mental culture and literary refinement, with all the high social, moral, and religious connections with which they are happily found associated in our institutions of learning, is worse than a weakness—it is hard to view it as less than a crime. While it is alas! painfully true that many are compelled to deny their sons the great benefits of education from absolute want and impossibility, and hence deserve the most tender sympathy, it is equally true of others, that the evil inflicted upon the young men is not so much the result of necessity as of false and pernicious social views and customs. Never did a people commit a greater error than did we, when, at the close of the war, with reduced fortunes and an impoverished country, with every cause that looks to mental, moral, and religious improvement languishing and crying for pecuniary support, we rushed so fast away from that simplicity and economy to which we had been forced by the exigencies of the severe and exhausting conflict. The motives to continue in the modes of living which were then adopted, are as strong now as they were at that time. They derive their power and receive their inspiration from the same exalted affection for kindred, regard to the public welfare in all time to come, and love for the cause of our Redeemer. What struggle is or can be more important than that in which we are called to contend for knowledge, for virtue, for religion; to save our people from ignorance, from vice, from misery? What nobler ambition can a State possess than to elevate its citizens by the force of surrounding circumstances to a noble individuality—so taking advantage of seeming adversities as to make them contribute to the growth of those stern, vigorous and manly qualities which despise a current uniformity and assimilation in manners and fahions, and rear a race of men distinguished for originality of thought and independence of action?

Such views on this subject are not impracticable. With some minds they have no effect. But it is a source of real pleasure, and of hope for our afflicted people, to observe that so many are wedded to the simple ways, that plain, unostentatious course and manner of life, that resolute hardy spirit, which may yet achieve for us in learning, in public and private virtue, in conserving and perpetuating all the institutions of religion, a success, which while it is the birth of the severest adversity, is the surest road to prosperity, the only substantial ground of national and individual happiness. And to no class of our citizens, perhaps, is due the praise of such a course as ensure these advantages more to those teachers with whom the young men would be brought in close and familiar intercourse at our Colleges and Universities. From them in their academical groves, in their quiet retreats, in their ample, social and intellectual circles, may be learned, as the young men will learn no where else, the true standard of a man.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE,

LOCATED IN AND ADJOINING THE TOWN OF WARRENTON, N. C.

FOR SALE.

The Warrenton Female College is now offered for sale, on reasonable terms. This College has been in successful operation, for over twelve years, and, during that time, it has earned a reputation as an Institution of learning, second to none in N. C.

The location is such as to warrant a full attendance of pupils, being very accessible from any point, especially the Eastern portions of N. C. and Va.

The Committee, who have been empowered to make sale of this property, deem it unnecessary to say more of this Institution as its character for a high grade of scholarship, and the elevated standard of morals inculcated, under the eye and supervision of its late President, E. E. Parham, is already well known.

The society in which this College is located is known to be equal to any in the South.

There is now a sufficiency of Buildings and other Conveniences attached to this Real Estate, to conduct a large and flourishing school. The premises contain about SIXTY ACRES of Land a material portion of which is within the Corporation. This, with all or a part of the furniture, &c., belonging to the same, can be purchased with the land and buildings. This property will be offered privately for sale until Wednesday the 3rd day October next, and, if not then sold, will be on that day sold, at public auction, to the highest bidder.

The Committee are fully authorized to sell, and would say that a rare chance is offered to any party wishing to purchase such property, as time sufficient, if required, will be given. Possession given immediately.

Any person or party wishing to examine the property will be shown it by, E. E Parham, the present occupant, or by any one or more of the Committee.

Meeting in Wake.

We are authorized to state that a meeting of the citizens of Wake County will be held at the Court House, in this city, on Tuesday next, at 12 o'clock, M., for the purpose of making arrangements to secure representation from this Congressional District in the approaching National Convention at Philadelphia.

The National Convention.

But a single month intervenes before the day fixed for the holding of the great Union Convention at Philadelphia. The proposition has been received with a degree of popular approbation such as was rarely witnessed even in days of high party excitement, when the political clans were rallied to National assembly.—This fact is full of hopeful augury and increases our earnest desire that North Carolina shall be fully represented in the great fraternal council, which is to result, we trust, in the speedy overthrow of Radicalism and the triumph of the friends of Constitutional Union.

Many of the States, North and South of us, have taken the necessary steps to ensure a full representation. As previously noticed in the Sentinel, several of the counties in this State, also, have already moved in the matter, while we observe, in other counties, calls for meetings. In view of the short time left us, we earnestly urge upon all prompt and immediate action.—If, in either of the Districts named, it may be impracticable to hold a meeting, we again commend to our friends the suggestion contained in our issue of the 9th. inst. viz: Let citizens of the First Congressional District, who can possibly spare the time, meet on Wednesday the 25th. of July, at Edenton, to select two gentlemen from that district; let citizens of the 2nd. Congressional District meet the same day at Goldsboro'; those of the 3rd. District, at Fayetteville on the same day; those of the 4th. District, at Raleigh on same day; those of the 5th. Dist. at Greensboro, same day; those of the 6th. District, at Salisbury on the 27th., and those of the 7th. District, at Asheville on the 28th. of July, and that the entire delegation meet in Raleigh on the 11th. of August, to select four delegates for the State at large.

We have the material, among the leading friends of the President's policy, to present North Carolina in the Convention in an attitude second to that of no other State, in point of intelligence, conservatism, prudence and character. Let us go about the work at once and with a will!

The Sentinel and the Two Conventions.

We congratulate our cotemporary of the City of Oaks, upon the readiness and marked facility with which he adapts himself to the change of circumstances. He is a feeler of the public pulse, knows what will suit, on both music and politics, the Southern ear; and hence, though these political organs of his were not so active and sensitive, in getting a true scent of public feeling in reference to the new Constitution, and the National Convention, he kept snuffing about until he found where the public stood, and he immediately comes out for the ratification by the people of the new State Constitution, and urges most earnestly that they send delegates to the National Convention. What is the matter? Has he seen a spirit, heard a voice, or smelt a mice? What has caused such a change to come over the spirit of his dream?

But the strangest thing about our cotemporary is that he now swears he has been on the right track, and had the true scent all the time. He at first did not know about the new Constitution; now it is a first rate instrument and should be ratified by all means. He was, at first, rather fishy about going into the National Convention; he was rather inclined to favor it if no party was to be organized by it. He now claims that he advocated it, unconditionally, from the first.—Newbern Times.

We do not "congratulate our cotemporary" of the City of Elms "upon the readiness and marked facility" with which it perverts and falsifies facts. We confess ourselves, too, at a loss to conceive the animus of its misrepresentation of the Sentinel, unless it be that the ill-disguised Radical proclivities of that paper prompt its conduct.

In both the particulars alluded to, the uncircumcised Radical Yankee, who indites the political Editorials of the Times, does us gross and wilful injustice. We have, at no time, hesitated in expressing ourselves favorably, under all the circumstances, to the adoption of the amended State Constitution, while ours was the first paper in the State that endorsed unreservedly the call for the National Convention at Philadelphia. We defy the Times to produce the proofs that we have done otherwise, in either instance.

But the "uncircumcised," aforesaid, professes, himself, to advocate the call of the National Convention. We take the liberty of informing all such that they are not expected in that great fraternal, Union convocation. Radicalism will have no voice in its deliberations. It is summoned together for the specific and express purpose of crushing out that fell spirit. If the "Occasional" of the Times, who is, in many respects, but a feeble copyist of the "Occasional" of the Washington Chronicle, will take the trouble to read the qualifications for representation contained in the call, and then recur to his own antecedents and look into his own heart, he will be satisfied, we think, that his role can be best played in that other Sanhedrim of "Southern Loyalists," so-called, which is invited to assemble under the auspices of Brownlow, Hamilton, Holden, Pierpoint, et id omne.—If there are enough of the "strait-sect" in Craven to make up a meeting, even as respectable as that remarkable demonstration in Goldsboro,' the other day, let him, by all means, be accredited as a delegate, with plenary permission to eat as much dirt as he wishes!

PARDONED.—We learn that W. B. Nash, who was to have been hung at Monroe, Union county, on the 1st. of June, and who was respited for 30 days, has been finally pardoned by Gov. Worth and will be set at liberty on payment of Court costs. Nash was convicted at the last term of the Superior Court of committing rape on the person of a girl 12 or 14 years old. She swore positively that he forced her on two different occasions, and no evidence was offered on the trial to damage her virtuous reputation in the least—no matter what has been gotten up since.—Western Democrat.

Though, perhaps, not designed to reflect upon Gov. Worth's course, the above paragraph may, to some persons, indicate a disposition on the part of the Governor to exercise the power of pardon without due consideration, or in the absence of evidence which fully justifies it.—We therefore think it proper to state the facts in this case, which influenced the action of the Governor:

On the 30th. of May last, a petition was presented to the Governor, very numerously signed by citizens of Union County, representing that at the last spring term of the Superior Court of said County, one Michael Nash was convicted of rape on the person of Minerva Little, she being the only witness for the prosecution,—that she proved, by her own oath, that many years ago, being then very young, she resided with her aunt, and the prisoner resided in the family,—that on three several occasions he had violated her person,—that she could not remember in what month of the year these several violations occurred,—that she had not told her aunt with whom she lived, nor her father living in the neighborhood, nor her grand-mother who lived in a mile of her residence, till some 8 or 9 months after the alleged rape,—that she lived for months afterwards in the family without disclosing the alleged outrage to any person whatever.

The petitioners further set forth that the prisoner and his family connexions were very poor, but very honest—that the prisoner was of good character up to the time this prosecution was instituted in April last,—that he had served four years faithfully as a Confederate soldier,—that the jury convicted him and he was sentenced to be hung on the first day of June last. The petitioners prayed for his pardon, on the ground that the life of a man ought not to be sacrificed upon a charge so stale and improbable, and when no specific time was given, whereby the prisoner had no chance to prove his innocence. Besides this petition, a gentleman of character filed in writing a statement, that this petition was gotten up soon after the Court, by a brother of the prisoner, who was very poor and unable to defray the expense of going to Raleigh—that a day or two before, a subscription had been raised of $40 by the people of Monroe, to defray the expenses of this gentleman in bringing this petition to Raleigh.

The Governor refused, at this stage of the case, to pardon, on the ground that he wanted to hear from the judge and jury who tried the case, but granted a respite for a month, to give time to hear from the judge and jury.

Before the month elapsed the messenger returned with divers affidavits, made by persons of unquestionable veracity, proving facts rendering the evidence of the prosecutrix exceedingly improbable, and with a petition, signed by eleven of the jurors, (the twelfth being sick, as alleged,) praying for the pardon of the petitioner, and with the certificate of the judge that if the facts set forth in these affidavits had been proved on the trial, they would have raised reasonable doubts of the guilt of the prisoner.—These affidavits proved grossly immodest familiarity with the prisoner after the date of the alleged rape,—that she had lived in a brothel, &c.

Upon this showing, the Governor granted the pardon. We presume that no one, after this statement of facts, can doubt the propriety of the action of the Executive.

Gov. Vance's Address.

A very intelligent writer in the Newbern Commercial speaks in highly eulogistic terms of Gov. Vance's address before the two Literary Societies of the University. He justly commends, not only its eminent merits, as a literary production, but also its entire consonance with the public sentiment of the State and the South.—He finds fault, however, with that portion of the address in reference to the respective rights of the National and State governments, which is in the following words:

"The predominance of the centripetal power is complete; and the results established logically are that the States cannot withdraw, that they are subject to coercion, not only as to their external relations, but as to their internal policy, their domestic laws, and everything else whatsoever appertaining to sovereignty."

Our attention had previously been directed to the same extract by a friend, who expressed surprise that the distinguished orator should have embraced a doctrine that led to consolidation in its worst form. An attentive perusal of the context, we think, will convince any one that nothing was further from Gov. Vance's intention than to admit the propriety or right of Federal interference with the domestic concerns and policy of the States. He was discussing the practical results, thus far, of our failure in the late revolution, and the practical consequences established by the "logic" of events. His statement, taken in this light, is unfortunately too true. The Civil Rights bill, which interferes with and directly controls the "internal policy" of the States, is the law of the land, and must so remain, unless it should be repealed or the Supreme Court shall pronounce it to be violative of the Constitution. We of the South, assuredly, can resist it through no other channels. Practically, therefore, under the existing condition of things, i. e. under Radical domination, we are, in our "external relations as well as our internal policy," subject to the will of the powers that be.

And this, we are sure, is all that Gov. Vance meant. He is as far, we know, as any man among us, from conceding the obnoxious dogma of centralization,—a dogma at variance with the true theory of the government and destructive of its Republican existence.

Internal Revenue.

We are indebted to a gentleman in this City for the following extract from a letter from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Treasury Department, Washington, containing some important decisions:

"I reply to your enquiry in relation to the stamp duty upon letters of administration, that the duty is upon the instrument, and not upon the estate; when, therefore, no letters are issued, no stamp can be required.

The debts of an estate are not to be deducted in determining the stamp upon letters of administration or probate of will. The value of all the property of the testator, whether real or personal, which, under the law, or by the terms of the will, can be administered upon, and which is within the jurisdiction of the Court wherein the will is approved, is the measure of the stamp duty chargeable upon the probate of will or letters of administration."

Another Veto.

It will be seen, by the telegraphic announcement in other column, that the President has prepared a veto of the Freedmen's Bureau bill. The country owes him an additional debt of gratitude for again interposing to prevent the continuance of this iniquitous institution.

It is confidently believed that the Radicals will not be able to muster the necessary two-thirds to pass the bill over the veto.

EDWARD EVERETT once said: "Save, scrape, shave, stint, starve, do anything but steal, to educate your children." We cannot, in connection with this advice, too heartily commend the article on our first page from the Central Presbyterian, of Richmond, entitled "Educate the young men."

BY SOME inadvertence, the Governor's Proclamation, ordering the election for the ratification or rejection of the new Constitution, was dated July 1st. It should have been dated July 2nd., as the first came on Sunday.

Extracts from a Letter to the Editors dated

CHAPEL HILL, July 8, 1866

"I know your deep interest in the freed people of our State, and I am sure you will be glad to hear that we have every reason to feel proud of our former servants. That they comprehend their proper course, and are endeavoring to pursue it, I venture to assert without fear of contradiction.

They, too, had "a 4th of July." The sunrise of the anniversary was ushered in, by the firing of guns. At ten A. M. precisely, there assembled in the grove, called by courtesy "Judge Battle's," a thousand or more of genteelly arrayed men and women, not including children, who were there by scores. Every shade of complexion prevailed, you may be sure; that is, all the various hues of yellow, chesnut, black, and very black—the latter predominating. The blue and white regalias of the Marshals floated hither and thither in the summer breeze, and in front, borne by tall standard bearers, was the banner, tasteful and pretty, and made affecting by the simple, and I believe, true inscriptions. On one side, in large black letters, "Respect to our former owners;" on the reverse, "Our hope is in God." I felt the tears ready to force their pathway down my cheek, as, removed from observation, I stood asking myself, "at whose instance was this done?—who suggested these mottoes?" I understand it happened this way: At a called meeting of the "committee of arrangements," the colored people being in large attendance, several sentiments having been proposed, this one carried the day. The author deserves mention. His name occupies a modest corner in the programme, but as I haven't one to send you, I must beg his pardon for calling it out. "J. Swain" it says on the paper, but as there is another J. S., this particular individual is Jordan Swain. I know his Raleigh friends will be pleased to hear so good an account of him. The former "property" of a master he loved and respected, and whose name he retains.

At half past ten, the long procession, (four abreast) preceded by music of drum and fife, marched up the main street of the village.—When they had advanced up about half way of our Broadway, orders were issued to, "halt."—For there, under the shadow of a fine old oak, awaited them,—"the Orator of the day." Silence prevailing, Jordan Swain addressed the multitude as follows;

"I regret to state that arrangements had been made, as we supposed, for the proper reading of the Declaration of Independence, by a gentleman (white) of this place. Unforeseen circumstances prevents the fulfillment of his promise, and at the 11th. hour, after one or more ineffectual efforts to supply his place, I found, that unless I agreed to stumble over a portion of it this part of the usual exercises must be omitted. So if you will bear with me I will make the attempt."

Accordingly, Jordan commenced his reading, in a voice somewhat agitated, but, soon collecting himself, the general opinion was that he acquitted himself remarkably well. That is, as far as he went. I conjecture he accomplished one third—making only one mistake in the pronunciation of a word.

This part of the performance being over, the orator (Col. H. B. Guthrie—our old friend, known and favorably known to many non-residents of Chapel Hill, to whom he has, especially on Commencement occasions, furnished "good cheer,") cheerfully advanced, and soon concluded a speech, which, if it did not fully satisfy the expectations of his audience, (and I understand it did,) and terminate happily to them, the conclusion of the day most certainly did to him. Shall I tell you how, and why? I will, then—yes, I will, in very spite for a secret so admirably preserved. Well, then, when the bustle and hurrahs of the day had ceased, and beautiful twilight came and went, and the starry night and soft moonlight rested peacefully over hill and valley, there, in a certain locality in a certain well known house in Chapel Hill, were words spoken that some how sounded like the plighting of solemn marriage vows; and then, a benediction—for the minister of God stood there—and—but I wasn't there; how do I know? This I do know: that the next morning the village got up, and opening wide its sleepy eyes, looked on astounded at the announcement, Col. Guthrie was married last night!

I will not anticipate the list of happy marriages in your columns, by disclosing the name of the bride. She has pleased me very much by establishing the fact that a woman can keep a secret—and such a secret!

To conclude this rambling letter I must not omit to state, that by far the most enticing order of the day was the announcement, that "a collation would be served to all who would come, irrespective of sex and color, at the freedmen's school grounds." As the heart that loves a good dinner has been pronounced a heart that truly loves, I presume that after its full discussion the most amicable relations existed. For

"All human history attests,
That happiness to man, the hungry sinner,
Since Eve eat apples, much depends on dinner."

The ladies of St. Louis are to hold a grand Southern relief fair in September.

For the Sentinel.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Parson Adams was the kindest of men, and the bravest and most unsophisticated christian that ever preached the word in its purity, or rolled up his sleeves and fought for his friend. His personal prowess in defending the oppressed against the wrongs of the oppressor was unsurpassed. He knew no fear. In a just cause he would have pitched single-handed into a locomotive, if such had been known in his day, "uncaring consequences." But this good Samaritan was lacking in shrewdness, and "never saw further into people than they desired to let him." He was, consequently, often imposed on, and sometimes made to appear not a little ridiculous. Our good old State of North Carolina, unsuspicious and sometimes sleepy, but always honest and brave, was led into an awful scrape, a few years ago, by cunning men who practised cruelly on her simplicity. She was waked up from her quiet dreams one bright June morning, in 1861, by the cry that "the dastard foe was daring to invade her soil," and she was urged "forward! forward! to the breach,"—being assured that "the God of Jacob was her refuge." And forward she rushed, and the God of Jacob was not there as a refuge. There was a cry for "powder"—also for "muskets, and rifles, and shot guns," and poor old North Carolina blazed away promiscuously, shewing much more pluck than discretion. But she was told to "F-I-G-H-T,"—and she F-O-U-G-H-T. Being once in the fight, she was in for the war, fully determining to do her part or die a-trying. She did her part, nobly, honorably, bravely, for four long, dreary and disastrous years. She almost gave up the ghost, sure enough, and lost all but her honor. Shorn of her strength, and shattered in fortune, she can yet point to one of her sons who is industriously gathering up her faded laurels, and wreathing them into a garland of blushing honors for his own brow. And well may such honors blush! The tongue that urged his brethren into the war may well wag in harmonious concert with the meek and gentle Thaddeus, as to the most available means of making North Carolina once more what she was in her palmy days. The pen that pledged "the last man and the last dollar" in maintaining "the right of secession, as an original, pre-existing, reserved, sovereign right," was with a beautiful propriety employed in drafting that scheme of disqualification and political ostracism, which would place the whole powers and honors of the State in the hands of those three or four thousand quintessential patriots who have so signally illustrated their State and honored themselves. It is meet that the great artificer of this magnificent scheme have his reward. And the good old State sends greeting to President Johnson, her honored son, and thanks him from the bottom of her dear old heart, that he has not forgotten his younger brother in the distribution of foreign honors.—And we now appeal to the honorable Senate to give him a lift on his way to a foreign soil. No appointment was ever so intensely and universally popular. He will go with acclamation.—Not a discordant note will be heard in all our borders. A hearty farewell from the sea to the Black Mountain shall bear him away. And those who are poetically inclined will sing with due emphasis and discretion, and with arms outspread towards the Southern cross:

"Fare thee well, and if forever,
Still, forever, fare thee well."

Messrs. Editors, when I speak of our glorious and patriotic Ex P. G., now honored with a premonitory symptom at least of a foreign mission, and about to leave us and wander away to furrin parts, I really do not know when to stop. I feel like going out in the woods and shouting. I feel as he felt in his fresh young days about glorious Harry Clay, before democracy crept over him. In short, "I feel like pouring out my whole soul." I can never abuse the Ex-P. G. as some cruel people have done. The heart is too full—too joyous. Let him go in peace! And all the people will say, amen! If their united blessings can waft him to Central America, or any where else, he may command them. Our people all appreciate his distinguished merits, and with tears in their eyes and joy in their hearts, commend him to the tender mercies and kindest attentions of the Indians, Aztecs, monkeys and earthquakes of all Central America.—They could not find a fitter Minister, nor a more multifarious politician, nor a more multitudinous man—

"Take him for all in all,
They will not look upon his like again."

North Carolina stretches out her withered hands and prays the worthy and worshipful Senate, to be gentle to her precious Benjamin. The old lady has been wofully whipped and buffetted, plundered of her resources, ravished of her choicest jewels, magnanimously kicked and spit upon in her utter prostration, taxed to the tune of more than a million, and radically be-pummelled and be-deviled generally, and now beseeches the Senate in return, to honor her darling child with a recognition of his claims to their notice. She would be glad also to get back into the family a little of the vanished coin. Seven thousand five hundred dollars per annum in gold, with liberal outfit and return, is not to be sneezed at. Let not Thaddeus for a moment suppose that our Ex-P. G. is not radical enough. He is ready to go the entire swine, "from tail to snout," as his precious programme for full communion amply proves. He stands at the door, "with his abject hat in his abject hand," bowing and scraping, praying for admission to the love-feast furnished by Stevens and Sumner and saints of that kidney, and patiently begs to be allowed to imprint his choicest love-kiss upon their hands, or elsewhere, as they may direct. What more could they ask? His modest humility knows no bounds. And as his humiliation has been great, so great should be his exaltation.

In contemplating the fruits of this magnificent mission, the old North State will lift up her united voice in that grand old Missionary hymn of Bishop Heber,

"From Greenland's icy mountains."

To which Indians, Aztecs and monkeys shall reply, in the glorious anthem (slightly altered,)

"Sound the loud timbrel o'er dark Caribbee, Charles Sumner has triumphed, and monkeys are free."

Hurrah for the Millenium! M.

CHURCHES BURNT IN THE SOUTH.—A writer in the New Orleans Christian Advocate says, that so far as he has ascertained, between one thousand and twelve hundred church-houses were burned during the war. These churches, he thinks, had cost the people not less than five millions of dollars. In the list the Methodists were the greatest sufferers, the Baptists next, then the Presbyterians, and the Catholics least.

A little negro, named Jimmy Maguire, was taken before the Mayor of Mobile the other day for fighting in the street. Jimmy stated that "young master"—a little white boy—was suffering a beating from a large boy, and he only fought to help his "young master." Jimmy was discharged.

In the pocket of a negro arrested at Augusta, Ga., was found a human finger, dried and enveloped in roots and herbs. He begged to retain the talisman, as "without his conjur bone he could'nt never do nuffin no more."

THE SENTINEL.

Thursday Evening, July 12, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

The People Moving---Rowan.

A meeting was held in Salisbury, on Saturday last, for the purpose of taking proper steps to be represented in the Philadelphia Convention.

D. A. Davis, Esq., presided, and Messrs. A. J. Mock and J. J. Bruner acted as Secretaries. The meeting was addressed by the Hon. Lewis Hanes.

A Committee, consisting of Messrs. F. E. Shober, L. Blackmer, Lewis Hanes, N. H. Blackwood, Wm. Murphy, R. A. Caldwell, W. H. Bailey, J. M. Coffin, J. W. Hall, O. Woodson, D. A. Davis, A. J. Mock and J. J. Bruner, was appointed, to confer with citizens of the Congressional District and designate a day for holding the District Convention.

The Committee have since issued an able and patriotic appeal, and announce Tuesday, the 24th inst., as the day for the assembling of the District Convention.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Pulliam, Jones & Co. offer for sale Hats, Boots and Shoes at cost prices in Boston.

O. G. Parsley & Co., Wilmington, are agents for the Green Swamp Company's Wood Ware. Samples may be seen at the store of Upchurch & Dodd, in this City. Encourage home manufactures.

See card of Romme, Dunkle, Johnston & Co., 370 Broadway, N. Y., wholesale dealers in Hats, Caps, Straw Goods, &c. With them is Capt. E. J. Hale, of this State.

Dr. Lacy's School for boys commences its Fall Session to-day. See advertisement, announcing change in terms.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.—We are pleased to observe a number of new structures going up in the heart of the City. Besides the splendid new building (that is to be) of the Messrs. Tucker, heretofore noticed, we see three large brick stores in progress of erection on the burnt (market) square,—belonging to the Messrs. Stronach, and Messrs. Lynn Adams and Cheatham, respectively. Mr. Mahler, also, on Fayetteville street, has converted a formerly unsightly structure into a neat and tasty building. Such evidences of recuperation are gratifying and encouraging.

WE HAVE on hand a number of copies of the Sentinel, containing Gov. Vance's address at Chapel Hill. Persons desiring to preserve it can obtain a copy, if early application is made.

N. C. RAILROAD.—The annual meeting of the Stockholders of this Road was held, this morning, at Company Shops.

COL. D. K. MCRAE.—The annual address before the Memphis Conference Female Institution, at Jackson, Tenn., was delivered on Tuesday last by Col. D. K. McRae, of Memphis, formerly of this city.

REV. DR. CRAVEN.—We are pleased to learn, that the popular President of Trinity College, Rev. Dr. Craven, has received the unsought compliment of a unanimous election to the Presidency of Soule University at Chapel Hill, Texas. This is one of the largest and most prosperous institutions in the Southwest. Its endowment was injured by the war, but it has been reorganized on a substantial basis. The Literary department is fully represented; the Medical department has nine professors, and is flourishing; the department of Law has two professors.

We are not advised whether the Doctor will accept or not, but the position is a tempting one, and the friends of Trinity must be astir to hold the Doctor if possible. We learn that Dr. Craven has had the offer of three other institutions.

TELEGRAPHIC DESPATCHES.—Our friend of the Charlotte Times, in alluding to his purpose to procure the telegrams of the Associated Press, inadvertently errs, in saying "it is but lately any paper in the State has been doing so, outside of Wilmington." All the Radeigh papers received the telegrams of the Associated Press from the beginning, until they became so worthless that we suspended them for a short time, until the Association could make better arrangements. During the period, however, that we declined taking them, the Wilmington Journal, Newbern Times and the Goldsboro' News, continued them. Now, all the Eastern Dailies, we believe, receive them, and have done so for more than a month.

TILTAREENS.—We observe that a very sharp cut, and much to the point, on tiltareens, by a poetical friend of ours in this City, is being published by several of our cotemporaries in this State. We abominate the tiltareen, and hope that a "decent respect for the opinions of mankind" will deter Southern ladies, at least, from wearing so ridiculous and so offensive an article of dress. The verse, however, was not written for publication, trenching too far upon the modesty of society. We seriously doubt the propriety of attempting to cure so great an evil by so dubious a remedy. By the way, the author of that article, which is capital in execution, though rather too bald for our columns, has fallen inadvertently into an error. It is quite an offence to stigmatize so graceful, so flowing and so beautiful an article of dress as the "Empress Trail Hoop Skirt" with the odious soubriquet of "Tiltareen." They are two different articles,—different in style, &c., but of the same genus.

Private telegrams from Tennessee say that Governor Brownlow is in a high state of excitement owing to the lack of a quorum in the Tennessee Legislature, and that he breathes out threatenings and slaughter against the two members who are responsible for it by resigning.

For the Sentinel.

Ladies Memorial Association, of Wake Co. N. C.

The Ladies of this Association wish information relative to the graves of Confederate soldiers who may be buried in isolated spots in the county, where they cannot be conveniently cared for, and will be much obliged to any one who will give them such information. They wish, also, if the friends of soldiers buried here contemplate removing their remains during this year, that they would notify the Secretary of the Association, Miss S. A. Partridge, of their intention before October, if possible, as it is quite important to know the exact number of graves to be attended to before that time.

What is of great importance now, is an increase of their funds. The subscription lists in Raleigh are about completed, and although our people have subscribed handsomely, still the sum so obtained is far inadequate to their wants. They now appeal to the people of the county to assist them. Money, with some, they know is out of the question, but as has been done in Virginia, so might our people of Wake County, or other counties, do; that is, to send us tobacco, or produce of any kind, that could be converted into money. All such contributions can be left at the store of Messrs. McKimmon & Sons, where they will be promptly attended to, and a subscription book will be found Mr. Pescud's Drug Store, where such contributions can be registered or money subscribed.—A great many soldiers from the Western part of the State, as well as from other States, particularly from Georgia and South Carolina, are buried here, and contributions from any source from those who have the means will be thankfully received, and better enable the Ladies to carry out their plans in making the burial place of our fallen heroes a beautiful and attractive spot. It will be the pleasure of the Ladies of Raleigh, to keep the turf green above their graves, and to care for all those who have no loving mother, or sister, or dear ones near, to plant the rose and the willow, or to drop a tear, over the brave spirits, who, "taking their lives in their hand, rushed to their country's call."

[From the Moniteur du Soir, June 26.]

The War in Germany---Particulars of the Battle.---A very Severe Struggle.---The King's Son Wounded.

The Italian army, commanded by King Victor Emanuel, effected its passage to the left bank of the Mincio by Valeggio and Goito, having on its left the fortress of Peschiera, and it marched forward at once. The left wing (1st corps) was to have occupied the positions between Peschiera and Verona, so as to protect the forward march of the 2d and 3d corps. But the 1st corps not being sufficiently strong, was thrown back upon the centre of the army, which at the same time was attacked by the Austrians making a sortie from Verona. The latter, after following the line from Verona to Mantua towards the South, in which direction the Italian army appeared to be moving, changed front to meet the King's troops, and offered them battle on June 24, the anniversary of Solferino. The news of the result, hitherto received, is very confused. In any case, the struggle seems to have been very severe. A part of the Italian troops was forced to retire before the shock of the enemy, and it is even said that two divisions have recrossed the Mincio. The battle appears to have been particularly hot near Custozza, a small town between Valleggio and Villafranca towards the north, and which was ultimately left in the hands of the Austrians. The latter have taken a number of prisoners and some guns. It would seem, however that the bulk of the Italian army has maintained its positions on the left bank of the Mincio. King Victor Emanuel's troops behaved extremely well, according to all the information received, and their officers set an example of bravery. Several generals and the King's son Amadeus were wounded. The Austrians, who a few days since occupied the passes of the Tyrol and Lombardy, were preparing a movement in that direction, with the object of attacking the Italian army in the rear, and which, if the latter should be definitely repulsed across the Mincio, would cause it most serious embarrassment.

VETO OF THE FREEDMEN'S BUREAU BILL BY THE PRESIDENT.

Report of the Judiciary Committee Upon The Complicity of Mr. Davis in the Assassination of President Lincoln.

WASHINGTON, July 10.

President Johnson has completed an able message giving his reasons for vetoing the Freedmen's Bureau bill. The whole document is admirable in its conservative tone, and logical reasoning, but it will in all probability not be presented until the last of the ten days allowed the President under the Constitution for the consideration of the bill.

Mr. Boutwell, of Massachusetts, is preparing the final pages of the report of the Judiciary Committee concerning the alleged complicity of Mr. Davis in the assassination of President Lincoln. The report is a lengthy one, and will be presented this week.

Caucus of the Radical Members of Congress.

A joint caucus of the Radical members of the Senate and House is to be held to-morrow evening to see what plan can be fixed upon to curb the President during the recess and fix upon the time of adjournment. The exceeding warm weather is telling severely upon the staying qualities of Congressmen, and they begin to evince the greatest anxiety to get away; but it is by no means probable that an adjournment can be effected under two and perhaps three weeks. The House has not completed the Tariff bill, although it has been before them more than two weeks. The Senate will doubtless require as much time for its consideration and will then send it back materially altered in its character. One or two important appropriation bills await action; also the army bill, on which the House insisted on its position by returning Senate bill, with Schenck's House bill substituted. The Mexican loan business yet hangs fire in both houses, and a large number of private bills, so that three weeks will be short time in which to close up the work of the session. Moreover, if the caucus to-morrow night shall result in any serious effort to retrain the exercise of proper and legitimate executive authority during the recess it will awaken serious controversy. The expected veto of the Freedmen's Bureau bill will also call for action that will tend to protract the term.—Washington Correspondent N. Y. Herald.

Congress---Death of Senator Lane, &c.

WASHINGTON, July 11, P. M.

SENATE.—The Senate passed a bill to extend, for three years, the benefits of the law granting lands to the Southern States for the establishment of Agricultural Colleges.

Also, a bill regulating the time and manner of holding elections for United States Senators.—Among other provisions it requires that the vote shall be viva voce.

The bill for the re-annexation of Alexandria to the District of Columbia was rejected by a majority of four.

HOUSE.—The House passed a joint resolution, providing for the organization of the militia of the States and Territories in a uniform manner, and for the distribution among them of two-thirds of the ordnance and ordnance stores, excepting the States lately in insurrection.

It also passed a bill giving the right of way to any Telegraph Company over the public domain.

Senator Lane died, to-day, at Leavenworth, Kansas, of his self-inflicted wound.

The State Department has received no official information whatever concerning the reported insurrection on the island of Cuba.

Resignation of Secretary Dennison,---Other Resignations Rumored.

WASHINGTON, July 12.

Secretary Dennison has resigned. He writes the President that the call for the Philadelphia Convention is antagonistic to the policy of the party that elected Mr. Lincoln, and of the Convention over which he presided, and he therefore withdraws from the Cabinet.

Rumors are credited that other resignations are to follow.

From Europe.

NEW YORK, July 12.

The Persia has arrived, with Liverpool dates to the 30th.

The Cotton Sales for the week prior to sailing was 78,000 bales, including 5,250 to speculators and 10,500 to exporters.

The market opened buoyant, with an advance of from 1@1¼ pence, closing with an advance ½@1 penny.

The authorized quotations are Orleans fair 15½d.; Middling 14; Mobile 15; uplands fair 14½. Stock in port 959,000 bales.

Breadstuffs quiet and steady. Provisions declining. Tendency of flour dull. Corn flat.

The Hanoverian army had surrendered to the Prussians and were allowed to return to their homes.

A desperate battle had been fought in Bohemia, near Nachod and Franklenan. There were conflicting accounts as to the result.

A Berlin dispatch claims that the Prussians defeated the Austrians on the 27th. and 28th capturing 8,000 prisoners; while Vienna telegrams claim that the Austrians captured 18 guns and many prisoners.

In the fight of Franklenan, the Austrians are said to have lost from 4 to 6,000 men in all, and the Prussians 1,000. There was great rejoicing in Berlin over the alleged Prussian victory, and the people presented an address to the King.

A Vienna despatch, on the other hand, asserts that Benedek prevented a junction of Prince Frederick Charles with the army of Silesia and was successful in the engagement,—killing and wounding a great number of the enemy.

The London Times says that it is difficult to decide as to the actual result.

There are indefinite reports from the Italian army, which has changed its plan of operations.

Derby has been forced to form a Cabinet exclusively tory.

Threatened trouble among the London populace on the Reform question.

No Family at the South Should be Without Them.

The late Col. John Wright, of Goldsboro', N. C., Aug. 14, 1862, says: "I have used the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS in my family here, and also on my plantation in Alabama, and always with success. I have a valuable servant girl who had been a long time under treatment for consumption without receiving any benefit. Almost in her extremity I was induced to try the Hepatic Pills. They were given according to directions, and she is now well, entirely restored by them. A similar case occurred among my servants in Alabama. A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the nauseating nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the so-called remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Uncerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

MAGGIEL'S CHILLS AND FEVER PILLS!

Maggiel's Fever and Ague Pills!

MAGGIEL'S FEVER AND AGUE

PILLS!!

THESE famous remedies, known throughout the great West as the United States for their extraordinary cures of

are now thoroughly introduced in the State of North Carolina, and can be obtained of all enterprising, first class druggists.

They act as a tonic to all debilitated systems, taken in doses of

One Pill Three Times A Day, before meals, and should be found in every family residing in miasmatic districts.

To any skeptic or one who does not believe in these marvellous preparations,

A Box Will be sent Free.

If he is not cured with one and not more than two boxes, no charge will be made. The price of the Pills is high—say but as they are a perfect cure without trouble or inconvenience, the charge is reasonable enough.

Address J. MAGGIEL, M. D., 43 Fulton St.,
New York.

CAUTION.

Watch narrowly and guard yourselves vigilantly against counterfeits. I have just suppressed a notorious counterfeit in Wisconsin, after much trouble and expense. Purchase of only first class druggists and never of peddlers or traveling dealers.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

IS a concentrated extract of the choice root, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effectual antidote for diseases. Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure; Such a remedy is amply wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove, as this has, of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found in the following complaints:

Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Sores, Bad Diseases, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Eruptions, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, &c.

Syphilis or Venereal Diseases is expelled from the system by the prolonged use of this Sarsaparilla, and the patient is left in comparative health.

Female Diseases are caused by Scrofula in the blood and are often soon cured by this Extract of Sarsaparilla.

Do not discard this invaluable medicine, because you have been imposed upon by something pretending to be Sarsaparilla, while it was not. When you have used Ayer's—then, and not till then, will you know the virtues of Sarsaparilla. For minute particulars of the diseases it cures, we refer you to Ayer's American Almanac, which the agents below named will furnish gratis to all who call for it.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS, for the cure of Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Heartburn arising from Disordered Stomach, Pain or Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, and for a Dinner Pill.

They are sugar coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best Aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

SOUTHERN HOTEL,

NOS. 669 & 679 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK, June 1, 1866.

I have the honor to inform the travelling Public that I have become the Proprietor of this beautiful Hotel, and am now painting, frescoing, decorating, refurnishing, &c., in the most splendid and luxurious style.—The Building is of white marble, five stories high, fronting two hundred feet on the gayest part of Broadway; commodiously and comfortably arranged for Families and Single Persons, and is in the very midst of the most elegant stores and shops, and the most fashionable places of amusement.

Elegant Coaches and Carriages always in readiness to convey Passengers to and from Railroad Depots and Steamers.

The Proprietor is determined that the Southern Hotel, in no respect, shall be excelled by any house in this city, and therefore feels confident that he can and will give entire satisfaction to his friends and the traveling community.

HENRY BRUCE,
Late of Kentucky,
Proprietor.

THE EMPIRE SHINGLE MACHINE.

18 acknowledged to be, by all odds, the best Shingle Machine in America. With only ONE HORSE POWER

3000 Elegant Shingles

per hour are easily made. The machine is built entirely of Iron, very compact and easily transported. It works VENEERS, STAVES and BOX STUFF, and out of the same number of bolts of timber, one third more Shingles are made than can be done by the Sawing Machines. All the saw dust is saved by the Empire and goes into the Shingle.
